RAINBOWS

Fun Facts

By: Zeesy Grossbaum

This Month About

The colors of the rainbow are red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet.

Rainbows are hardly seen at noon.

"Rainbow" comes from the Latin arcus pluvius, meaning "rainy arch."

Rene Descartes was first who realized in 1637 that Rainbows were caused by light from the Sun being split into different colors by Rain.

You cannot touch a rainbow as it has no physical appearance.

When the sun is lower, the rainbow will be higher in the sky.

Double rainbows occur when light bounces inside the water droplet more than once.

A person standing next to you is standing in a slightly different spot and sees the rainbow different because they see different raindrops.

It is difficult to photograph the complete semicircle of a rainbow in one frame.

On the ground, we only see a semi-circle rainbow but from very high up, such as on an airplane, you can see a rainbow in a complete circle.

Very rarely, light can be reflected 3 or 4 times within a water droplet.

A rainbow happens when is raining in one part of the sky and sunny in another.

The state of Hawaii is home to the most Rainbows than any other area on Earth.

The world's longest-lasting rainbow was seen over Sheffield, England on March 14, 1994.

Chapter 2

BS"D

Recap: Bracha Fried & Freida Stein (BFFS), two 10-year-old best friends whose fathers both own a jewelry store called Golden, decides to start a detective agency called BF Detectives. Bracha was just going downstairs to go home when she sees her father talking with Freida's father, they both seemed very very grim. - Correction from chapter 1 - when Bracha mentions her brother Shmulie it should have said brother Meir.

Wha-what happened?" Bracha cried out, her shoulder-length curly black hair bouncing with each word, her hazel green eyes expressing worry. "SHH," Freida said, but she looked just as worried. Just then Mr. Fried looked up. "Oh hello Bracha, hello Freida, maybe you should go home Bracha. Mommy and everyone else is home." Bracha and Freida looked at each other, "Uh, sure Tatty. I'll go right away." Bracha zipped away to get her shoes from Freida's room, and Freida followed hot on her heels.

"What do you think happened?" Freida exclaimed as Bracha tied her shoelaces. "I am not sure," admitted Bracha, "but maybe it can be our first ever case!" Freida shrugged at that thought. The two girls rushed downstairs and said goodbye, and after a final glance at her father, Bracha was off.

Bracha was the 4th to oldest of 6 kids, Bli Ayin Hara, and so when she got home she was not surprised to hear 2 5-year-old-boy voices bickering. She took a glance at the clock, 3:27 pm, it read. Just then her mother came in, "oh, hello Bracha!" Bracha looked at her mother's face, she looked worried & grim. Just like Tatty. She thought. "I'm going to meet someone, Tatty is at-" "I know, I know, Freida's house, I saw him." Bracha interrupted, "are you going to tell me what happened?" Bracha's mother sighed. "Soon, soon." and quickly left.

"Oh, about time you got here," Bracha's 15-year-old brother Levi said as she walked into the living room. At least he does not look worried and grim, Bracha couldn't help noticing. "Do you know where Tatty is?" Bracha nodded, "He's at Freida's house." Levi grabbed his hat. "Thanks, anyway I'm going to learn with my friend. Etty & Meir are at friends, Gavi & Zalmy are home, and you get the honor of taking care of them." And with a quick nod, ran off. Ooh, boy, Bracha thought with a sigh, now I get to be in charge of these 5-year-old babies.

As Bracha had expected, the 5-year-olds were not being very cooperative. "Nu-uh, Bubby got it for me, you get the blue ball." Gavi practically broke the window with his shouts. "You are as wrong as... as... as Bracha!" Gavi's twin, Zalmy, was not quite any quieter than Gavi. Bracha quickly interrupted, "Hey hey hey, first of all, I don't see what I am wrong about because I have like not said anything for the past 5 minutes, and second of all-" Zalmy cut Bracha off "Exactly! You're wrong by not saying anything and reading!" Bracha sighed, and sat up from the couch. "Guys, who wants to go to the park?" Zalmy and Gavi's green eyes lit up and their curly hair bounced. "Me! Me!" Bracha got the boys shoes and jackets, and went to get snacks. Zalmy & Gavi each picked their favorite snack and finally were ready to go.

After finally arriving at the park, they were rather surprised to see their mother there, along with Mrs. Stein, who had her two-year-old with her who was scooping sand into her mouth. "Mommy? What are you doing here?" Bracha's mother looked just as surprised to see them as Bracha to see her. "Oh, hi, I did not expect to see you guys here." Mrs. Fried gave a half-laugh, "me and Mrs. Stein were just... talking together here. I see you brought Zalmy and Gavi, so nice of you. Well, umm.. me and Mrs. Stein will be here, I guess if you need help or something, come over." Bracha's mother was babbling in a way so unlike her, Bracha just gave a quick nod and ran over to the swings with Gavi and Zalmy.

I wonder what's really happening, Bracha's head was flying with ideas, it's obviously something with the jewelry store. Maybe they misplaced important files, or maybe they need help, maybe there is not enough money to keep the jewelry store running, maybe they need someone to pick them up and- "Pick me up! Pick me up!" Gavi shouted, jumping on Bracha. "Gavi! When I am busy don't disturb me and anyway-" Bracha did not have a chance to finish her sentence before Gavi interrupted, "you weren't busy! You were just looking at the sky!" Gavi seemed ready to pounce on Bracha if she did not pick him up, so with a sigh, she put him on her back. "Yippee! I'm flying!!" Just then, Zalmy chose the perfect time to join them. "Me too! Me too! You always give Gavi rides and not me!" Bracha put Gavi down, and put her hands on her hips. "We are going home right now, you two! I brought you here to have fun, not to fight. So unless you are planning on staying here alone, you have to come back." Zalmy seemed ready to agree with this, but as usual, Gavi cut in. "We wouldn't be alone, 'cuz Mommy is here." Gavi seemed to always find a way out of going home from the park. "You know what, that is a very good point. Let's go to Mommy, and tell her I am going home, and that you are here and ask her if she can watch you." Bracha was relieved she can have some quiet at home, and hoped her mother would agree to watch them. Her mother did agree, though she seemed to be rather distracted, so Bracha made the not-so-long walk home by herself.

After checking the time (4:29 pm, if you care), and making herself a snack, she allowed herself the pleasure of plopping on the couch. I cannot believe how fast the day is going, she thought to herself. I was just at Freida's house, and now it's already almost three hours since then! Bracha's train of thought kept moving from one subject to another. Supper is usually at 6:30pm, so that's another two hours. I really wonder what happened. I am one hundred percent sure it has to do with the jewelry store, after all, if it was not, then why would they include Steins? As usual, Bracha's thoughts were interrupted by a sibling, only this time by her oldest sister, who happened to be the oldest in the family, Etty who was 16. "Oh, hey Broch, what's doing?" Bracha rolled her eyes. "That's what I want to know!" Etty gave her a quizzical look, and with a sigh, Bracha related the event's of the day. Etty thought for a minute before giving her response. "I think that it for sure has to do with Golden, the question is what." Bracha rolled her eyes again, she'd been doing that often recently. "Y'know, if you keep doing that, your eyes are going to be permanently cross-eyed." Bracha stopped mid-roll, "Really?" Etty smirked. "No. Anyhow, I am going to my room." Bracha's mouth fell open. "You're not going to help me solve this mystery?" Etty shook her head "I have work to do, and anyway, Ma & Ta are going to tell us soon anyway, no?" and then, with her famous I-am-older-and-more-mature-big-sister look, she went up to her room.

Supper finally came after a hour which felt more like a day and not to long after, her parents wanted to speak with her. When she went to the study she saw her older siblings Etty, Levi & her 13-year-old brother Meir were also there, she noted with a sigh of pleasure that she was included with the big kids.

"As I am sure you realized, something has happened at the store, I am sure you are eager to know what it is," Bracha's father began with a tight smile "and Mommy and I agree you guys should know. As you know we have a very good insurance and very good security cameras & alarms at Golden, but unfortunately, late last night, someone somehow shut off the cameras and the alarm and robbed practically the entire store." Everyone all gasped "the police are looking to find the robber and we are working on getting money from the insurance company but this all takes time" Bracha's father sighed "Hashem will help Im Yirtza Hashem but we definitely have to Daven that we find the robber and get all the jewelry, or at least get the fulls money worth." Everyone were all speechless, Bracha's mother tried to break the tense silence "anyway kids, now is 7:20pm, whoever still has Chavrusas or homework or whatever can do that now, I am going to put the twins to sleep, please go to bed on time". Everyone all left the room and went to our bedrooms, everyone was in a daze. All of the sudden Bracha remembered the BF detectives, and ran down to the phone. She dialed Freida's house number and excitedly cried out to Freida "I think I found our first case!" and ran to Freida's house, without even hanging up.

Chanukah Story!

During the time of the 2nd 🕒, Eretz Yisroel was ruled by the cruel 🏠 King Antiochus made a decree that there was to be no 🌸 learning, keeping Shabbos, Rosh Chodesh and giving boys a Bris Milah. Meanwhile, the 🏠 were taking over the 🕒 and they set up idols all around and inside it. They ruined the whole place, broke many things, and brought a pig as an offering to their idols on the Mizbeiach! They broke the seal of the Kohen Gadol that was on each 🏀. How it works:

The pictures are words.
Look at the code bank to find out what those pictures mean!

You will need:

- 1 glass jar
- 2 dreidels (wood or plastic)
- Glitter
- Water
- Glycerin
- Hot glue
- Stuffing

Instructions

1. Decide if you'd like to use plastic or wooden dreidels. Wooden ones will get moldy from the water as time goes on, so if you're using wooden dreidels, coat them with clear nail polish first.
2. Use hot glue to attach the first dreidel to the inside of the jar lid. The dreidel should be lying down flat. Make sure it is not jutting out over the edge of the lid, so it fits in the jar. Then use hot glue to attach the second dreidel to the first one. This will be the dreidel that will be visible, so position it carefully.
3. Place some stuffing around the base dreidel. Use the hot glue to attach it to the lid.
4. Set the lid aside to dry. Do not continue if the glue isn't fully dry.
5. Fill the jar with water. Add 1-2 tablespoons of glycerin. Pour in some glitter. Mix. (The glycerin will make the glitter fall more slowly.)
6. Make sure the jar is filled to the very top. Then screw the lid on tightly. Turn over and watch the glitter fall.
7. Optional: Decorate the rim with ribbon or Washi tape. Decorate the outside of the jar with Chanukah stickers.
8. Shake and enjoy watching the glitter fall.

NEW!

Hey Rivka! We are going to ask you some questions about yourself, So for the first one, which productions did you act in?

In high school I performed in stage performances, Roots and Portraits of Faith. I did 2 other stage performances in Kol Neshama summer camp.

I've acted in 3 movies as well, A Light for Greytowers, The Heart That Sings, and Operation Candlelight.

Wow!! Are you more of a singer or actress?

Definitely an actress.

Cool, How long do you have in between acts to change?

Less than a minute usually, if my character was in the next scene. Sometimes longer if there was a scene, or a dance in between that I wasn't in.

Wow thats so short! When was the last production you acted in?

The last stage performance that I acted and sang in was Portrait in Faith.

Oh wow I think I've watched it :). What was the longest production you were in?

I believe Portraits in Faith. I memorized pages of lines.

Thats a lot! Which production was your favorite one to act in?

How could I pick? I love it all!

Star Talk

Rivka Krinsky

BS"D

Ha! For sure! What do you rather be the main part or not?

I prefer to play the main part or a lead supporting actress.

Thats nice. When did you start acting/singing?

In 8th grade.

Starting young :). Do people stop you in the street to take pictures?

They sure do.

Thats nice. Do you get a lot of attention when you walk down the street in CH?

I used to get a lot of stares, groups of girls giggling and stopped for photos but the last movie I did was a few years ago and it's calmed down a lot.

I bet! What was the first production you were in?

It was a production about the Rabbi who became a coachman. I had a beard and sang songs in Yiddish. Fun stuff.

Nice!! Ok that's it for now! Was nice talking to you Rivka!
