Apple Roses

All you do:

1. Prepare a bowl with water and lemon juice
2. Core apples and cut into paper thin slices
3. Leave the peels. Right away put the apples into a bowl with water and lemon juice so it doesn't change colors.
4. Microwave the apples in the bowl for 3 minutes, to make them softer. If you prefer than you can simmer it in a small pan with water.
5. Unwrap the puff pastry on a counter lightly sprinkled with flour. Using a rolling pin stretch the dough a little, try to keep it to a rectangular shape.
6. Cut the dough in 6 strips
7. Put 3 TBSP of apricot preserve and 2 TBSP of water in a bowl and microwave for 1 minute, so it will be easier to spread.
8. Spread the preserve on the dough. Preheat the oven to 350°F
9. Drain the apples; Place the apples on the dough, (with the round part out of the dough) sprinkle with cinnamon (if you would like).
10. Fold up the bottom part of the dough. Carefully roll, seal the edge, and put into a silicone muffin cup. (No need to grease if it is silicone if its not make sure to grease it). Do the same for all 6 roses.
11. Bake at 375°F for about 40 - 45 minutes, until fully baked.

Note : Make sure the pastry is fully baked on the inside before removing it from the oven! If after 30 minutes the apples on the top look fully baked, move it to a bottom rack for 10 - 15 minutes to avoid under cooking the puff pastry

Enjoy! You can send you pictures to osextra@shluchim.org

All you need:

- 1 Puff pastry sheet, thawed
- 2 red apples (you can use whichever color you want)
- Half Lemon, juice
- 1 TBSP of flour to sprinkle on the counter.
- Cinnamon (optional)
- Powdered sugar (optional)
- Apricot preserves

OPTICALILLUSIONS

Recap: The girls decide to investigate. They go to what used to be Golden jewels and find a small button that fell off a shirt, but they don't know where to go from there

Upon further examination, it was discovered that there was tiny tiny words on the button which said Ramii Exclusive. When they searched it up, they found out it was a rare company that was very expensive and you can find it online. Freida took the notebook and wrote on the page that was titled About the Criminal and wrote, very rich, does not need the jewelry for money. So what does he need it for? She knew she ended off with a question, which she hoped they would answer quickly.

The next day after school they both went back to where Golden used to stand and ducked under the tape. They had brought shovels and started digging through the mud, "Hey Freida, I found something! Something major!" Freida ran over. Bracha was holding a tiny, tiny, scrap of paper that said 'ESH' and had a few, barely legible numbers and letters and signs, it looked like "Eukra. 2908. C=XZXZ251" the girls put the paper in the bag, looking very, very, confused. They looked for a little while but didn't find anything. They went to Freida's house and copied the code down into the notebook sectioned clues. They searched up Eukra but couldn't find anything helpful. "Hey!" Freida suddenly called out, "2908 looks like an address number, maybe Eukra is a street!" they followed up on this and searched up '2908 Eukra ST', '2908 Eukra DR', '2908 Eukra AVE' and '2908 Eukra PKWY'. Parkway was successful and a picture came up of a small, cute, pale yellow house. "Wait a second," Bracha said slowly, "it seems like Eukra Parkway is just five blocks or so from my house. I kinda recognize the place because we sometimes go to a park a little further down and we bike past this place. Yup, there's the mailbox with a huge clown on it which my brother Meir bumped into" Freida looked happily surprised, "great so we know the way! So far we know that there is SOMETHING that has to do with an address 2908 Eukra Parkway!" Bracha still looked perturbed, "what's C=XZXZ251?" Freida shrugged, "I dunno, but if we go tomorrow we can see!"

~~~

“Hello?”

“It’s me”

“What do you want”

“I can’t find it”

“Find what?”

“The paper with the safe house information on it”

“And- and the code?”

“Yes”

“You better find it, or else...”

The voice on the other end didn’t need to finish, for they both knew too well what was capable of happening

~~~~

“G’morning!” Bracha waved to Freida, Freida ran over to her, “hey Bracha! How was your sleep?”

“Same same, yours?”

Freida shrugged, “same”

The two girls grinned, and walked off to class.

“So who can tell me, what did Yehoshua tell the Yidden to do when they hear the Shofar?” Morah Blonstien, the girls Navi teacher looked around, many girls were raising their hands, she looked at Freida Stein, she had been quiet the whole day and didn’t raise her hand now. “Freida?” Freida jumped, “s-s-sorry what was the question?” Morah Blonstien sighed, “please try to pay attention Freida. Esther?” and Freida went back into her thoughts. the Navi lesson went on, but for Freida, she was still lost in her thoughts.

“Ready to go?” Bracha asked Freida after school, Freida looked slightly nervous but nodded, “Great, lets go!” the girls got their bikes and went off.

“2908 Eukra Parkway” Freida read off the paper, “so I guess this is it”. The two girls looked up at the house. It was the same small yellow house with a porch in the front that they had seen online. All the shutters were closed and it looked as though at had been abandoned and not used in years. The yellow paint was peeling, the grass in the front was full of weeds and was unkempt. “So what now?” Freida asked Bracha, Bracha shrugged, “ ‘Guess we knock”. The girls gingerly knocked, not sure what to expect, after about a minute of knocking with no answer the girls shrugged and, with a backwards glance biked off.

“Well that was a fail” Bracha commented. They were sitting in Bracha’s bedroom, munching on cookies, and trying to figure out where to go from there. The girls had the piece of paper down on the table, along with the notebook with all the information. “Yup, you could say that again” Frieda said, staring for the trillionth time at the paper, “C=XZXZ251, what could that mean?” She wrote it down in the notebook in big letters studying each one individually” suddenly Bracha looked up, “hey! That reminds me of the code to my house, letters and numbers! Maybe that’s the code to the house!” Frieda's face brightened up, “now there's a idea! I didn't see a code but I'm sure there could be one 'round the back!” the two girls made up to meet the next day and Frieda went off.

The girls knocked a few times without a answer before nervously doing the code, “I hope there is no alarm” Bracha whispered, as her hands shakingly entered each number, Frieda could just nod. They entered the code and the door slowly crept opened, they listened for a beep beep that they were familiar with from opening the door when the alarm was still on in their own homes and were relieved not to hear it.

The room that they walked into seemed to be a living room. There was two old armchairs with a matching love seat, and a small coffee table in the middle. The two girls continued on to the next rooms, yet they found nothing interesting except for a paper on which was written The day has arisen, 25 since the previous, attended is Dog and Cat, the fire has arisen and the wealth has as well, smile, just 25 days, flying, flying away, far away, 25 days. - Lion. The girls took the paper and ran back home.

~~~

“Someone's been in the house”

“NO, who?”

“I assume someone found the paper with the address”

“But it was coded!”

“I lost the de-coded one”

“YOU-”

“I tried!”

“What did you see on the cameras?”

“It was unclear, but it seemed like two kids, or very short adults”

“Gender?”

“Female”

“You've got 3 weeks, they'll be back. Prepare a trap, take them to the hideout, and interrogate them. Did they take anything?”

*Gulp* “th-the paper”

“The Paper?”

“Ye-yes bu-but it was coded”

“Everything?”

“Not the numbers”

“You. Will. Pay.”

CLIFFHANGER

“Li-i-on” Freida finished writing in the notebook, Bracha jumped up from her bed and paced around the room, “what could it mean, what could it mean...” Freida looked up, “there’s probably another piece of paper, we should go back and look” Bracha was surprised, “I thought you didn’t like this!” Freida shrugged, “by now I’m too curious” Bracha nodded “sure, lets go tomorrow after school” Frieda smiled and high-fived.

The girls opened the door to the house the next day, slightly less nervous, they walked straight to where the paper was and out of nowhere 5 people in masks with guns came out, they blindfolded the girls and gagged them before shoving them outside into a car and zooming off

G2WT

We finished our 3rd Perek in Chumash and have been working super hard on many things - but fitting with the time of year the girls have been super mindful about Ahavas Yisroel. We are looking to compliment one another on different things we notice.

G3ET

G3-ET made beautiful napkin rings for Pesach. We made them using tissue paper and pipe-cleaners and I am sure that they made the Yom Tov table feel more festive and spring like.

G4 5WT

In G4-5WT Chumesh class they are learning so much and gaining so many skills while having fun. They are already translating Pasukim on their own and working to understand Rashi's. A favorite activity is creating Shoresh cards which are presented to the class. They also learn a lot of Chumesh through group projects and activities. This week the girls received their Shaar Hakavod chocolate bars in the mail, Each student that received their chocolate went above the "bar" of excellence in Chumesh Class. They are working hard on their end of the year project and looking forward to have a blast the last few weeks.

Here's a great, yummy and simple craft you can do at your Lag B'omer celebrations whether for your chabad house or with your siblings

LAG B'OMER CRAFT

What you need:

- Premade Chocolate cupcake*
- 5 Mini Pretzel Sticks*
- Red frosting*

How you make it:

- 1. Using a tip, apply your red frosting on the cupcake*
- 2. Arrange the pretzels in a teepee sticking it slightly into the cupcake*

It doesn't take more then a few minutes and everyone has fun. If you want to pick it up a notch, add some orange or yellow frosting on top of the red for a more fire-y look.

Dont forget to send pictures to osextra@shluchim.org
